

The Energy Smart Show Brings It All Together For Consumers This Fall Friday, November 4 and Saturday, November 5 at The International Centre

TORONTO, Ontario – March 1, 2016 – The first of its kind, the Energy Smart Show, taking place Friday, November 4 and Saturday, November 5, 2016 at The International Centre in Mississauga, is an energy efficiency-focused consumer event featuring exhibits by leading industry product and service providers, topical workshops and speakers, thought leaders and field experts, and government incentive program representatives. For more information and exhibitors visit energysmartshow.com.

"The inaugural Energy Smart Show will provide consumers with value energy efficient products and services in our increasingly climate-challenged world," states David Dunlop, President and Show Manager, Energy Smart Show. "As the days get shorter in the Fall, our energy needs increase. We want people to come armed with questions and a shopping list for the many exhibitors who specialize in money saving energy efficient products."

Endorsed by the Canadian Energy Efficiency Alliance, the Energy Smart Show is a one-stop shop that will offer consumers a chance to learn how to reduce their energy usage and save money – at home, in the car, at the office, at the cottage, in their small business and more.

"We saw a need for a show that focused purely on energy efficiency for consumers," adds Dunlop. "There are excellent shows for green living, healthy lifestyles, renovations and cottages but nothing that zeroes in on the consumer interest to conserve. The Energy Smart Show will fill that void and help consumers find the answers they need."

Everyone wants to decrease their energy costs. The Energy Smart Show Net Zero Home features a utility room, kitchen and den/living room to showcase how to make your home more energy efficient. It is an educational hub where energy efficient products and services including insulation, windows, doors, appliances and more will be housed and experts will be on site to explain how they can be integrated into your home. Consumers will learn how to work with building codes and city requirements when installing solar panels to decrease their use of traditional energy sources.

The Energy Smart Show features the Let's Talk Energy interactive display which helps Canadians understand and appreciate the value that energy brings to their lives. Check out the show's workshop stage where you'll see the Let's Talk Energy's Energy House, interactive Power Bike, and thermal camera.

The Energy Smart Show will be Canada's pre-eminent energy efficiency event for energy conscious consumers and an influential platform for energy efficiency product developers, researchers, educators, manufacturers, government programs and services and more.
